

This taxation regime will reduce competitiveness of the unorganised sector by ensuring standardised taxation rates for all

The manufacturing sector has been a chief market driver for many developing economies across the world. We believe that the new GST regime would craft a transformative shift from a complex multi-layered indirect taxation system to all inclusive indirect taxation system. In addition to this, GST will also be a big booster for the organised sector by enabling a common tax regime. This taxation regime will reduce competitiveness of the unorganised sector by ensuring standardised taxation rates for all, helping the organised players significantly.”
